Boy on skateboard hits car, breaks leg

A 7-year-old Oakwood Knolls boy is in the hospital with a broken leg.

He was riding a skateboard down a sloping driveway and ran into the side of a passing car.

He is at Victory Memorial hospital in Waukegan. The accident happened at 2:20 o'clock on Monday afternoon.

Charles H. Miller, assistant chief of police, said he hoped the accident would be a warning to other Antioch residents whose youngsters are participating in the popular sport of skateboarding, which can be dangerous.

"WE SEE 100 of them flying out of sloped driveways," Miller said.

The assistant chief appealed to parents to make sure that their children riding skateboards and small bicycles, are doing so under safe conditions.

In the Oakwood Knolls accident, there were two boys riding on the same skateboard, making it doubly dangerous, police said.

The other youngster jumped off before he was injured.

High School plans 1977 summer school program

A registration survey is being conducted to determine the subjects to be offered in Antioch High School's 1977 summer school.

Prompt return will assist in determining courses to be held and additional offerings needed. Persons should return the form to the high school office as soon as possible.

Elementary school graduates may enroll in freshmen courses for credit.

THE PURPOSE OF SUMMER SCHOOL is to permit students to accelerate their public school program by earning additional credits toward graduation. Also, to permit students to make up work failed to complete satisfactorily during the regular term; to occupy the time of youth which might otherwise be idle during summer months, and to offer courses of special content which are not available during the regular school term.

Final registration date is June 15. The first day of summer school is Thursday, June 16.

First Clean Streams meeting tomorrow

The first public meeting of the Lake County Clean Streams Committee will be at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow (Thursday) at the Cook Memorial Library, Libertyville.

Primary on the agenda is recruiting for subcommittees: monitoring (patrolling rivers, spotting pollution, chemical-biological analyses and wildlife inventory); legal (advising on laws and legal alternatives); political action (drafting bills and contacting legislators); public agency (determining which groups will give financial help); and publicity.

Heading the subcommittees have been, respectively: Al Sommer; Jerry Soesby, director of Lake County Forest Preserve District; Sally McGowen; Gwen Ferrari; and Joe Gilby. Acting chairman is Wayne Quilico.

Cleaning the DesPlaines River is the committee's current project. Their goal, according to Sommer, is to make it "swimmable and more valuable for recreation."

Participating groups include the local chapters of the Sierra Club and the Audobon Society.

Sell 208-acre farm in Antioch area

The sale of one of the largest tracts of land recorded in the last few years in the Antioch area was complete recently by L.W. Feightner Land Co., 800 N. Main St., Antioch.

Totaling over 208 acres with a complete set of farm buildings, the property was sold to an investor. Sole broker in the transaction was Larry Feightner. Located on the eastern edge of the village, the rolling and wooded terrain is zoned for 5-acre residential development sites, according to Feightner.

An addition to commercial and industrial brokerage, L.W. Feightner land Co. handles investments and leasing. See the classified ad section for further information.

Thomas W. Kane, superintendent of mails at the Antioch Post Office, has announced that the new address numbering system will go into effect on Saturday, June 4.

Some of the rural route customers will be required to change their present addresses at this time. These patrons are being notified.

The new numbering system will enable all postal customers to retain the same address no matter who or what route would deliver the mail in the future, Kane said.

Presently, only customers whose address must be changed because of rural route changes are being advised of the need to make use of the township numbering system.

Top secret busing petition

By RONALD REAGAN

In Washington, D.C., it is said, there are no secrets. Well, maybe one. For all the media attention it has gotten, Discharge Petition Number 1, now making the rounds of the House of Representatives to end compulsory school busing, might as well be classified top secret.

Despite a public profile so low as to be nearly invisible, the petition is close to success. It needs 218 members' names on it to be discharged from the House Subcommittee on Civil and Constitutional Rights where liberal chairman Don Edwards (D-Calif.) has been sitting on it. It has 178. And, the signers are almost evenly divided between Democrats and Republicans.

'Gentlemen, start your engines ...
then, quick, get out of the way!'

By JERRY PFAARR

All great newspapermen have an abundance of enemies.

That is because they have such a fierce dedication to the truth, and the truth (as William Shakespeare said) hurts.

But the latest Gallup Poll shows that I didn't make enough enemies in my April election endorsements to qualify as a great newspaperman. (I thought I made my share, but it seems I still have a ways to go.)

SO, I'VE BEEN THINKING, "How can I make enough enemies to achieve true greatness?"

Then it occurred to me:

Attack women!

Well, this isn't going to be easy, because I like women. But here goes:

They shouldn't have let Janet

Guthrie drive in the Indianapolis "500." I mean, after all, a woman driver!

Instead of that famous line that has started all previous Indianapolis 500 races:

"Gentlemen, start your engines!"

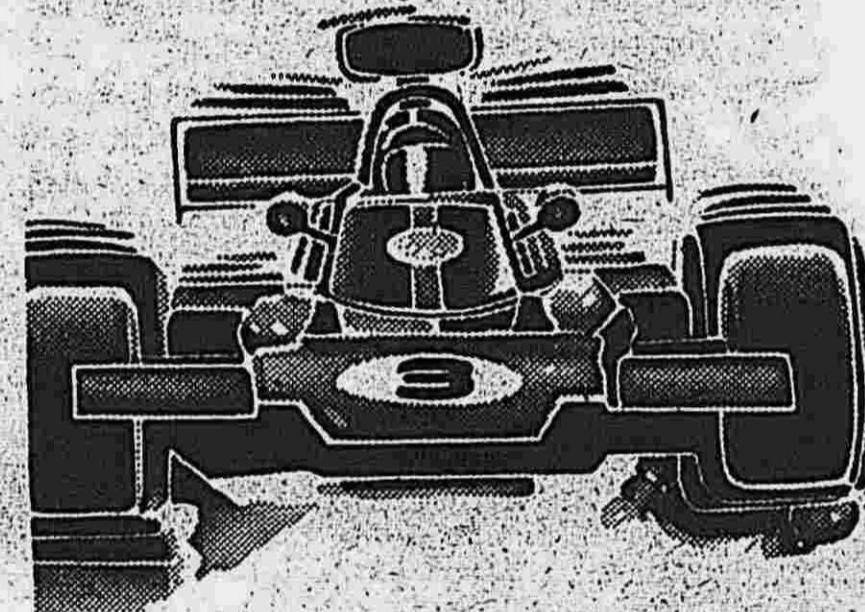

The announcer had to say:

"In company with the first lady ever to qualify for the Indianapolis 500 ... gentlemen, start your engines!"

SOME THINGS ARE SACRED. Letting a woman play Indianapolis Roulette is like letting a woman fight Muhammed Ali for the heavyweight championship (although we know some women who could beat him), or like having a female quarterback for the Chicago Bears (even though it might be an improvement.)

But we male chauvinists would like to point out that a filly has never won the Kentucky Derby.

Our friend, Chris, at the high school, knows how we feel about women. They were meant to clean the house, do the dishes, have babies and, of course, put out newspapers for male publishers who are away making important decisions on the golf course.

BUT JUST BECAUSE Miss Guthrie was in the field, you can't blame her for the fact that veteran racer Lloyd Ruby crashed into a wall and that only 10 of the 33 drivers finished the race.

Maybe they were just nervous.

WE LIKE THAT SONG from the musical, "Flower Drum Song," which says, in part:

"When men say I'm cute and funny ... and my teeth aren't teeth, they're pearls ... I just lap it up like honey ... I enjoy being a girl."

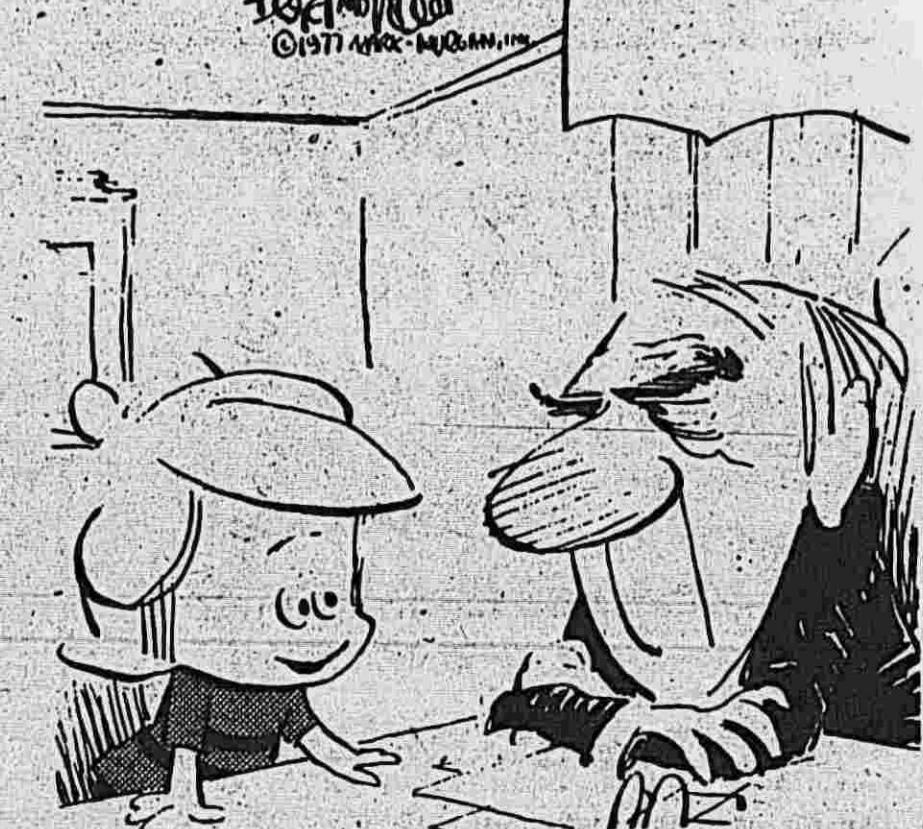

OH, OH! HELEN REDDY just walked into the office singing:

"I am woman, hear me roar!"

Okay, Helen, let's hear you roar.

"Purr."

Helen, face it, you're just a pussycat. Now hurry home before the King of Beasts gets you:

"It's Simply A Matter Of Dealing From Our Strength.. Every Time They Threaten To Cut Off Our Oil, We Threaten To Cut Off Their Coca-Cola."

Juvenile crime laws being considered in state Senate

The Illinois House of Representatives has passed a second bill sponsored by Rep. Donald E. Deuster (R-Mundelein) to help victims of juvenile crime.

The first Deuster proposal, H.B. 52, passed the House in February, and would make parents financially responsible up to $1,000 for vandalism damage wilfully inflicted by their minor children, age 12 through 17.

Now, the second Deuster bill, H.B. 674, would allow the police, sheriff or courts to reveal the "identity" of juvenile offenders to the "victims" of their wrongful acts.

Under present Illinois law all police and court records involving delinquent minors are kept confidential under the Juvenile Court Act. Deuster's bill makes an exception to the rule of confidentiality so that crime victims may find out what juvenile inflicted their personal injury or property damage.

Deuster told the House: "Simple justice demands that we help the victims of crime even when the culprits are youthful. House Bill 674 will allow innocent citizens wronged by juvenile vandals to find out the identity of the offender. Then, under the Parental Responsibility Act they may proceed civilly to secure restitution from the parents."

"The time has come," Deuster stated, "for us to stop mollycoddling juvenile delinquents. We should hold them and their parents financially accountable for their actions. Our society desperately needs to strengthen the responsibility of individuals and the family."

The two companion juvenile crime bills, H.B. 52 and H.B. 674, are now under consideration in the Illinois Senate.

5 Allendale boys still need homes

Several people called Allendale School for Boys after they read an article that appeared in this newspaper three months ago.

The article was titled "All Allendale Needs is 10 Good Homes".

As a result, some teenagers now have visiting or foster homes they did not have before.

"Allendale staff and boys are pleased but are still needing homes for five more boys by June," said Wayen E. Parthun, a school administrator.

AS REPORTED EARLIER, Allendale is a private child care agency that provides foster family care, residential treatment, group home, and diagnostic services. The foster family services are unique among foster care programs in that there is greater assistance given to the foster family.

This begins with careful planning and matching of the youngster and the family. It continues with weekend visits that allow for a relationship to develop before the youngster moves into the foster home. When the move takes place, a foster care worker provides eight hours of assistance each month to ensure that the match-up is successful.

"All in all, this results in a very personal growth experience for all involved," Parthun said.

Ron and Mary Kay Giebelhaus of Antioch have been involved with Allendale for the past two years. The process they experienced is typical for Allendale resource homes.

After an initial interview in their home and an orientation to the programs, they became a visiting home. Their first experience as a visiting family was with a boy named Danny. Several factors including interests, temperament, and Danny's needs as well as the Giebelhaus' wishes were considered in deciding whom Danny would visit.

As it turned out, Danny visited briefly with them and later returned to his own family.

The Giebelhauses are now a foster family home for a 16-year-old boy named Stan. Stan's needs were different from Danny's in that he needed a foster home for about one year while going to high school and preparing to return to his family. After having been a visiting home for two boys, by this time the Giebelhauses were ready and willing to consider becoming a foster family. The Giebelhauses participated in a licensing study and obtained a foster license at this time.

AFTER A FEW WEEKEND visits, Stan moved into his new foster home. As with any new foster family and foster child placement, there were mixed feelings, an initial honeymoon period, and adjustment problems. A foster care worker helped to prepare his move and has continued to work with the foster family, the natural family, and Stan.

"This is an important aspect of the Allendale Foster Care Program since any family system is necessarily going to be changed by the introduction of a new member into the family," Parthun explained.

The changes and adjustment struggles have not been made without rewards. First of all, Stan has received nurturing encouragement and experienced success in school, his social life, and his family life that probably would not have come from his living in an institution. The Giebelhauses

The Town Crier

Reporters aren't all bad. After all, it was a newspaperman who first noticed it was a horse under Lady Godiva.

Clark Kent probably is the dumbest newspaperman we know. He's "Superman," too, but if he's so smart why does he wear his jockey shorts on the outside?

Comedian Pat Butram said he saw no reason to impeach President Nixon.

"Shucks," said Butram, "they could have just let Teddy Kennedy drive him home."

PAT SERSHON at Main Secretarial is introducing a new concept in bookkeeping service, designed to meet the individual needs of business. "To aid the local businessman with a daily, weekly or monthly bookkeeping system, our services include the following," Pat said.

Recording entries: sales journal, cash receipts journal, purchases journal, cash disbursements and general journal.

Posting: subsidiary accounts and general ledger.

Preparing: payrolls, monthly billing, bank reconciliation and debit and credit memo adjustments.

WE TOOK THREE Antioch Little Leaguers to last Wednesday's White Sox game in Milwaukee. Being from Illinois, they cheered loudly for the Sox.

When a Milwaukee player hits a home run, a man perched high in centerfield hops on a slide which takes him down from his chalet into a large, imitation Stein of beer. Then he releases balloons.

A friendly Milwaukee fan turned around with a big smile and kidded the Antioch Little Leaguers:

"Do you know what they do in Chicago when the White Sox hit a home run? They go out and steal 18 hubcaps."

Occupational Rules Favor Civil Servants

The Civil Service retirement program holds that a person may be classified as disabled when he cannot perform the duties of his job.

An extreme case of the liberal interpretation used under the Civil Service program is that of a federal fireman who had initially met vision standards, but whose later need for glasses made him incapable of meeting those standards.

In this case, the fireman was allowed to retire on full disability, even though he refused a fire dispatcher job within the same agency at the same grade level.

65 years of service

The Strang Funeral Home is celebrating its 65th year of service to the Antioch area.

The business began in Antioch in 1912 by Leland Strang, whose father, George, began his funeral service in Grayslake in 1898. Edmond Strang purchased the home from his father in 1950.

1055 MAIN ST. has been the location of the business since 1933. Previous sites were further north on Main St. The former Charles Thorn farmhouse was expanded in 1941 to house a chapel, smoking room, rest rooms and a preparation room.

In 1962, the Strang family celebrated 50 years of service to the community and further enlarged the facilities to include a chapel on the south side of the building, a music room, another office on the lower floor, a foyer and casket display rooms. Later it became necessary to build a six-car garage and a parking lot for 75 cars. Over an acre of land is still undeveloped.

Edmond and his wife, Evelyn, operated the business until their retirement Jan. 1, but both are affiliated on a part-time basis with Dan Dugenske and staff, now operating the funeral home.

DAN HAS BEEN on the staff for over 17 years. He considers that an advantage in operating the firm and says, "I look forward to Antioch's future, because of growth and expansion of the area."

PERSPECTIVESPornography and children

By DONALD COLE
Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

Time magazine divides responsibility for what it calls "the Porno Plague": widespread taste for it among voyeurs; second, profiteers who get rich producing and distributing pornographic materials; third, the courts that protect them, making it difficult, if not impossible, for communities to check the spreading plague.

What shall we say about the courts that protect them? One is reminded of the prophet Isaiah's denunciation of those who "call evil good, and good evil; Who substitute darkness for light and light for darkness; Who substitute bitter for sweet and sweet for bitter."

In 1966 the U.S. Supreme Court amended an earlier definition of obscenity, restricting it to material judged to be "utterly without redeeming social value." As Time observes, "The 'utterly' standard opened the floodgates of porn as an army of literary critics, psychologists, First Amendment libertarians and even clergymen testified at obscenity trials that they could detect a trace of social value in almost any erotica."

Later, under new leadership the Court tried to sharpen its definition of obscenity. It shifted responsibility for setting standards to the nation's cities, towns and villages. But by that time the damage had been done; community standards had been so drastically lowered by six or seven years of contact with the porno plague that in few, if any, major cities or towns has it been possible to put together a jury that would convict.

But the justices are themselves influenced by public opinion; their decisions probably echo the thinking of national leadership at all levels, which, in turn, reflects the mood of the country. Have there been any marches or demonstrations to protest court decisions on abortion or pornography? Certainly not! One looks in vain for evidence of national outrage at-if nothing else-the disfigurement of our cities by massage parlors, "adult" theaters, etc. There is no outrage; we accept it.

Well, not everybody. The truth is, voices are being raised in protest against one recent development: the sexual exploitation of children.

The question is, why is there no public outrage? There was plenty of indignation during the war in Vietnam. Are the minds of our children of lesser value than the bodies of the troops? And is the Church, as Time accuses, truly routed? If not, how shall we justify our silence? I don't know how to protest, other than to recommend the writing of letters-lots of them-to elected officials. Elected officials. Elected officials quake when bombarded by letters from those who put them in office.

A second suggestion is participation in the work of organizations already lobbying for tougher anti-obscenity laws.

One thing I do know: the judgement of God against the corrupters of society, especially those who corrupt children. Never was our Lord more severe than when denouncing those who cause children to sin. In one place He says, "...do not hinder the children from coming to Me," and in another place He says that it is better for the man who causes a little one to sin that he be drowned in the depth of the sea (Matthew 23:23). But even there he will not be able to escape the indignation of God. Nor can a nation avoid the consequences in time of indifference to any and all assaults on its moral fibre. Obscenity is an abomination in the sight of God, and it should be an abomination in our sight.

New management at 4 Squires

Corporate officials of Four Squires have announced the promotion of Sandi Stewart to store manager of their Antioch store, effective today.

Miss Stewart has been with the company for almost five years. She was first hired by Jack Siegmeier on a part-time basis during her senior year in high school. In September 1973, she worked at the Four Squires DeKalb store while attending Northern Illinois University.

She was re-hired a few months later by Siegmeier on a full-time basis. By the end of February 1974, she was the women's department manager. That May, she was promoted to assistant store manager.

Along with this promotion, the present manager of the Antioch store, Siegmeier, will be opening the newest Four Squires store in the Hawthorne shopping center Aug. 1.

Although he will be opening the new store, he will still be making Antioch his home and will be involved in the Antioch branch and the community.

Fran Colette will also be going to Hawthorne as the women's department manager.

Chuck Hines, president of Four Squires, feels the two stores will definitely compliment each other and will grow along with Lake County and the lakes region.

New image at 'First Bank'

"What is your image of a bank? Regulated, hard to work with? At the First National Bank of Antioch an extensive training and research program has just been completed and a totally new marketing image implemented. Wait till you've seen what we can do for you," said the bank's president, L.M. Woods.

The building is the same, the employees are the same people, but the image is new, he said.

"FIRST BANK - WE WORK FOR YOU is the new image for the bank, arrived at through months of analyzing employees and customers. Conclusions were drawn from the willingness of the bank employees to work together for their customers," Mr. Woods said.

In March, an employee training program was implemented. Once a week the entire bank staff would arrive early for training on every function of the bank. Everything from cashing a check to making a loan was discussed, with the employees gaining the knowledge to answer questions and direct customers in a confident and efficient manner.

"WITH THE EMPLOYEES secure in their ability to help their customers, the bank went a step further and asked: What do our customers want?" Mr. Woods said.

"We think we found the answer," he added. "Warm surroundings, friendly advice and loan services that are simple to understand. In the weeks to come the new 'First Bank' will be introducing its customers to new and simpler ways to do their banking."

"Look for announcements of those new services and stop in at FIRST BANK to introduce yourself to a staff that says WE WORK FOR YOU," Mr. Woods said.

New school format makes debut here

If all goes as planned, this summer will mark the beginning of a new form of schooling in Antioch.

Under the name of Antioch Center for Developmental Learning, four Upper Grade School teachers intend to begin their own summer school with the plan to continue their programs in the fall in the form of a clinic. The four teachers are Max Cummings, math; Paul Epner, science; Randy Lowe, language arts; and Maureen Musgrove, social studies.

THE TEACHERS believe students do not learn unless they want to learn; therefore, courses must be interesting and teachers understanding. Students, furthermore, need the basic skills of reading, writing and arithmetic to meaningfully explore other areas of interest.

The summer is designed to determine registrants' levels in each of the three basic skill areas. A program will then be individually prescribed for that student in the center's math lab and reading-writing lab to further their skills, no matter at what level they begin.

In addition, a general studies program will have all students involved using the skills they are developing in a unique, educational format. This summer's general studies program will probably involve either an archaeological dig or an environmental study of the Chain of Lakes.

THE FOUR TEACHERS feel qualified for their task. Mrs. Musgrove and Mr. Lowe are completing their Master's degrees in reading this spring. Mr. Epner currently has his coursework done for his master's degree in curriculum development and needs only to complete his thesis for his degree, expected in August. Mr. Cummings is currently working on his master's degree in curriculum and supervision.

The dates of the summer program will be Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, June 20 through July 29. It will run from 8 a.m. through 12 noon. The tuition for the program is $80.

Since it is a private school all students from incoming sixth graders through outgoing eighth graders are eligible regardless of where they regularly attend school. The program will be held at the Antioch Upper Grade School, rented for this purpose.

For more details contact any of the four teachers at home in the evenings, or at school after class hours. If you wish to be placed on their mailing list for future announcements, write them at P.O. Box 279, Antioch.

Help with anxiety at family clinic

The word "anxiety" itself has become commonplace in our fast-paced society. But anxiety, for some, can create major problems, and lead to an inability to function, according to George Mann, a psychiatric social worker at the Family Counseling Clinic in Lake County.

There are many people today who are anxious to the point where their lives have become disorganized and they can no longer be productive - at work or personally, Mann says.

FOR THOSE, anxiety usually is manifested in either of two ways. One type tends to over-react. These are people who may anger easily, scream or cry, and may quickly and impulsively make a decision - but a poor decision at that. Or they may over-react to events, and as the events pile up, so does their anxiety, Mann says.

The other is the type that under-reacts, the people who are very calm and placid on the outside, but also immobilized, and can't seem to get anywhere. Frequently house-bound women, who seemingly are calm, may be filled with anxiety.

TO HELP PEOPLE in determining whether they may possibly have an anxiety problem that needs assistance, the Family Counseling Clinic is holding a free advisory session from 12 noon to 2 p.m., Tuesday, June 7, and Tuesday, June 14.

Opening night for 'Crucible'

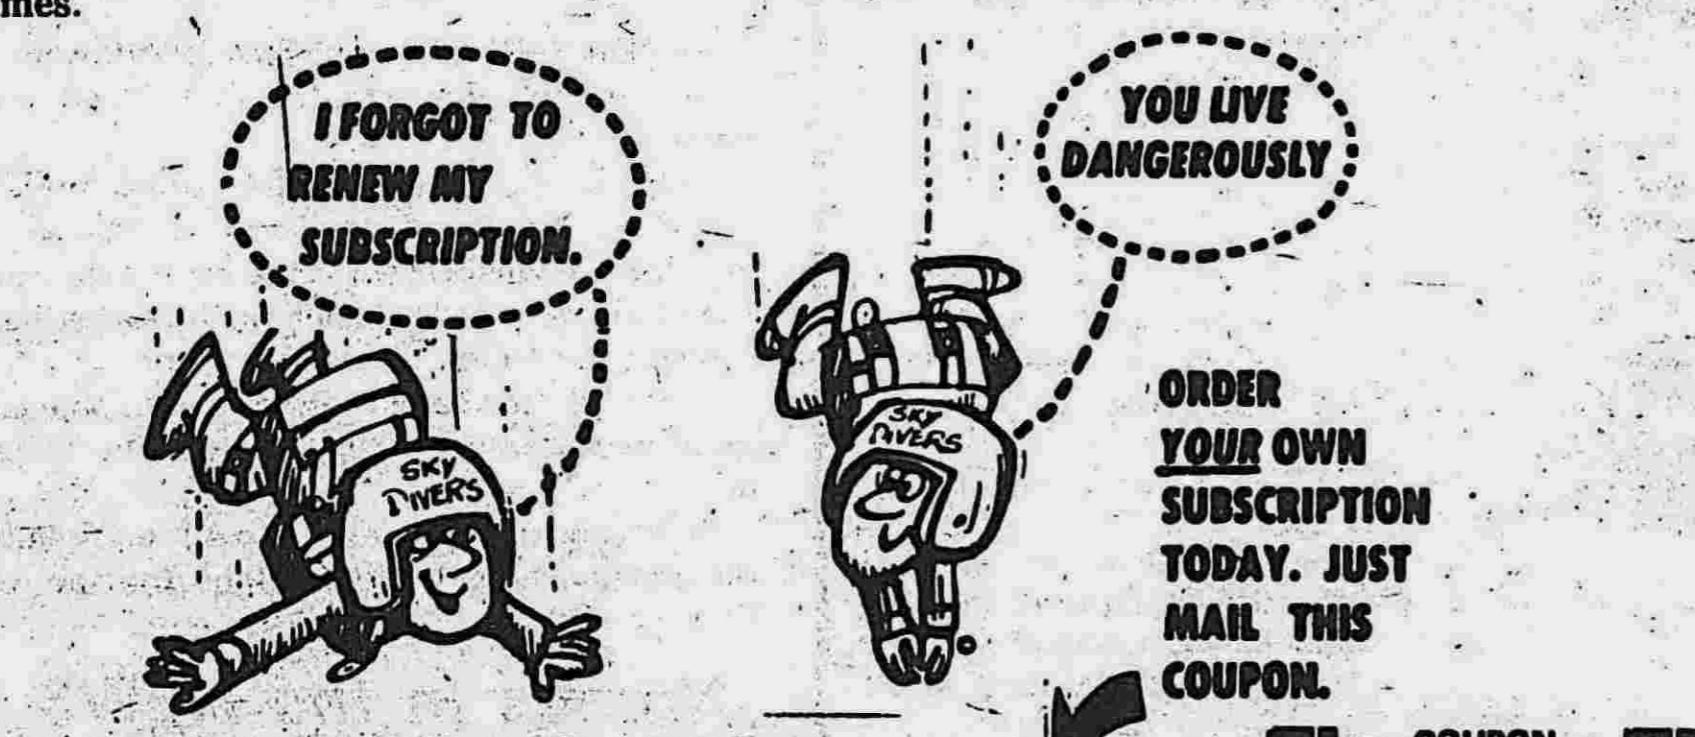

The long-awaited PM&L production of Arthur Miller's "The Crucible" will open this Saturday evening, June 4. Subsequent performances are scheduled for Fridays and Saturdays, June 10, 11, 17 and 18. All presentations will be held at the PM&L Theater, 877 Main St., Antioch. Curtain time for all of these playdates will be 8:30 p.m.

The emotional drama is set in the New England of the 1690's. The story centers on a farmer, John Proctor (Bruce Berger), his wife Elizabeth (Tricia Schaefer) and the jealous Abigail Williams (Laura Krah), who seeks to have Elizabeth put out of the way by accusing her of witchcraft. The play is then concerned with the religious mass hysteria which swept Salem, Mass., at the end of the 17th century. At that time scores of people, chiefly women, were put to death for the supposed crime of witchcraft.

PM&L veteran director Lou Jones has brought the controversial story to life on the Antioch stage. The cast also includes: Mark Kettner, Tom Hausman, Don Beveroth, Dawn Caddy, Debbie Blanksten, Jennifer Biel, Deane Jones, Frank Greenwood, Debbie Beno, Pam Hunley, Anne Marie Cina, Sid Groner, Ray Lewis, Richard Schram, George Blansten, Earl Beese and Nancy Balmes.

Considered tour de force, "The Crucible" is a fitting crowning play, closing PM&L's current Season XVI. To make your reservations to see the emotion-packed play, call 395-3055. Don't forget to pick up your reservations at the theater by 8:15 p.m. of the night you see the show.

Clean your air conditioner and save some money.

A dirty air conditioner has to work harder. That wastes money.

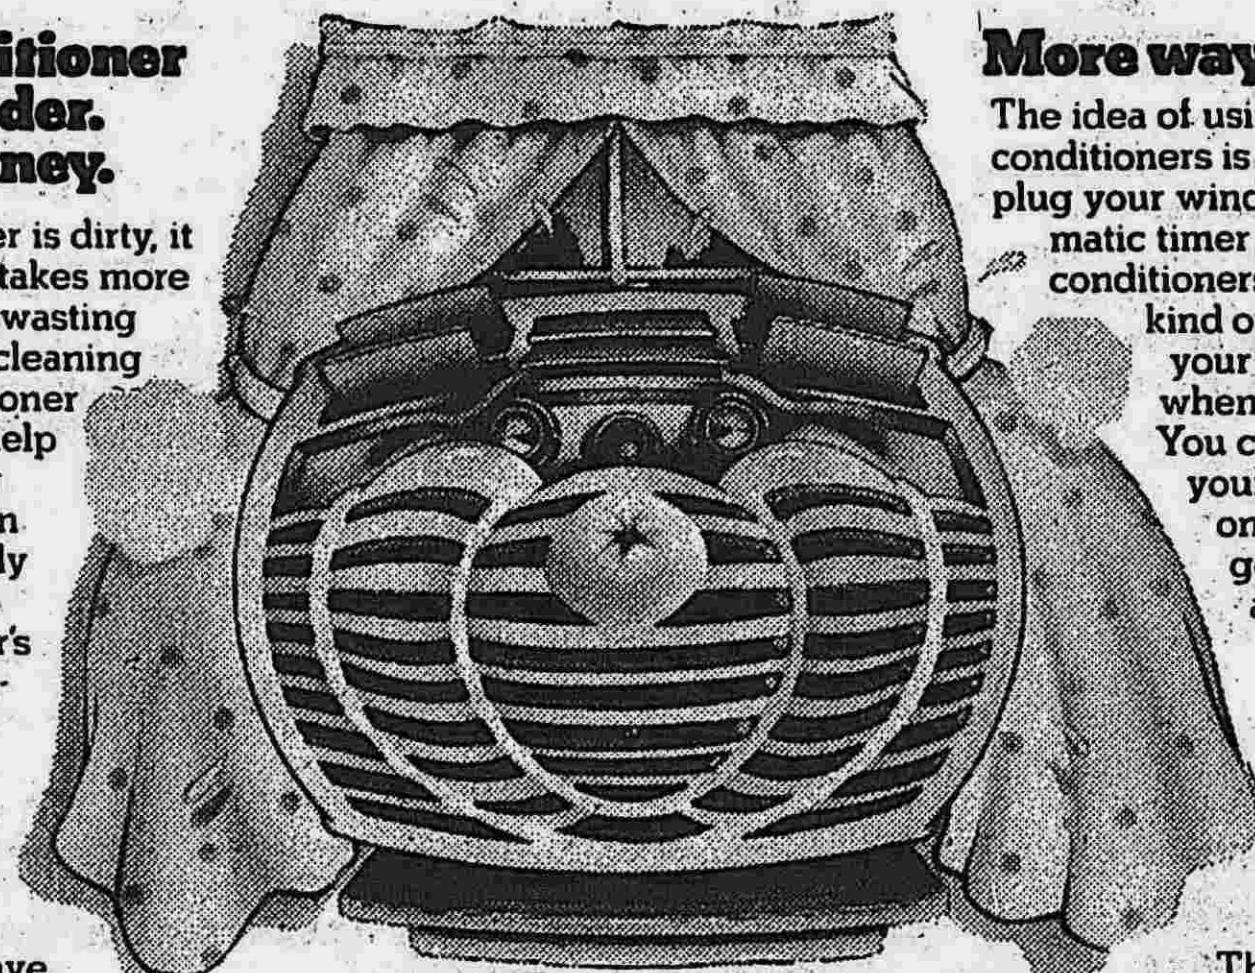

When your air conditioner is dirty, it has to work harder. That takes more energy. And you end up wasting money. A good periodic cleaning will make your air conditioner more efficient, and will help you save on its operating costs. It's possible to clean most window units in only about 10 minutes. You should check your owner's manual for specific cleaning and maintenance instructions, but in most cases the steps to follow in cleaning are very simple. And the more thoroughly you clean, the more money you'll save.

Vacuum the filter and save a little.

First pull the plug. Then take off the front panel, and carefully remove the filter. You can vacuum it while it's still in place, but it's easier to clean the filter well if you remove it first.

Wash the filter and save a little more.

Your owner's manual will tell you whether the filter in your air conditioner is the kind that can be washed and reused. If it is, you can get the filter even cleaner by first vacuuming it, and then hand washing it in warm water and a gentle detergent. The type of soap recommended for washing woolens is best suited to this job.

Save on central air.

If you've got central air conditioning in your home, there are several steps you can take to keep your central air system running efficiently. Remember to clean or replace your furnace filters regularly. Clear away any debris from around the outdoor unit. And keep grass and shrubs trimmed back to 12 inches away from any working parts.

A call for help may help you save.

If you've had your air conditioner for several years and have never cleaned it before, it could take a qualified serviceman to perform the kind of maintenance and repairs that may be necessary. In an older unit the condenser coil, refrigerant charge, and motor parts may need expert attention.

More ways to save.

The idea of using timers on air conditioners is catching on. You can plug your window unit into an automatic timer made especially for air conditioners. It works just like the kind of timer you'd use to turn your lights on automatically when you're away from home. You can set the timer so that your air conditioner comes on an hour or so before you get home from work on a hot summer day. That way your house will be comfortable when you arrive, but you'll be using less electricity. And your air conditioner won't be running all day long.

There's one last thing you should remember about air conditioners, especially if you're thinking about buying a new one.

Air conditioner efficiency varies from model to model, depending on what we call the Energy Efficiency Ratio, or EER. The higher the EER, the more cooling you get for your electric dollar, year after year. It's easy to figure out the EER. Attached to every air conditioner is a metal plate showing that machine's watts and BTU's. To get the EER, just divide the watts into the BTU's. We recommend an EER of 8 or more.

The more efficiently you use energy, the less energy you waste, and the more money you save. And an efficient air conditioner can save you plenty.

'Normal'?

By BETSY ROSSEN

BY THE SAME reasoning, I do not agree that heredity and upbringing are sole determinants of character.

Abraham Lincoln chose to educate himself out of a log cabin.

Theodore Roosevelt exercised himself out of asthma and 90-lb. weakling status.

Carol Burnett did not let two alcoholic parents lead her to a life of resentment.

Pat Boone turned his life from gambling that was headed for financial and emotional disaster.

ONE FINAL THOUGHT: when doing the immoral becomes the "normal" way to live—and the courts uphold it—then the strength of a nation built on godly principles is greatly shaken.

Gary Quedenfeld gave a leather craft demonstration.

Steve Stowinski showed gun safety tips.

Lorna Whitton talked about conservation.

Marsha Fallon's demonstration was international foods.

AFTER THE DEMONSTRATIONS were over, club members participated in a Food Fashion Show.

Judy Houghton and Gary Quedenfeld each brought a homemade coffee cake. Karen, Steve and Ken Stowinski brought punch, but they needed something to put the punch in, so Karen Kiesgen brought the cups.

Lorna Whitton baked her delicious apple pie and Mike and Marsha Fallon brought the chips and dips.

Refreshments were served and that completed the annual Achievement Night for the Clever Clovers.

Bicycle Safety Rodeo June 15

The State Bank of Antioch, assisted by the village of Antioch and the state of Illinois, is sponsoring a Bicycle Safety Rodeo to be conducted in the State Bank parking lot Wednesday, June 15 from 1 to 5 p.m. Rain date has been scheduled for June 22.

The safety rodeo involves a skill test layout to determine the rider's ability to control a bike, instructions on city and state laws for the bike rider, and suggestions for proper maintenance of cycling equipment.

A grand prize bike will be awarded to the rider with the best score upon completion of the course. In addition, a total of 18 trophies and medals will be awarded to top riders. In boys' competition, first, second and third place trophies and medals will be presented in three separate age categories: 6 through 9, 10 through 13 and 14 through 17. Identical awards will be presented in the girls' competition.

Bike riders age 6 through 17 may register for the rodeo June 15 in the State Bank parking lot, from 1 to 2 p.m. The first 300 participants to register will receive a complimentary set of reflectors for their bikes. All registrants will be given bicycle safety materials provided by the office of the Secretary of State. During the rodeo competition, Chuck Miller, assistant police chief of Antioch, and Sgt. Tom Fisher will be conducting bike safety checks and registration of bike serial numbers for theft prevention.

The aim of this rodeo, according to Pres Reckers, a vice-president of the State Bank, is to reach the greatest number of youngsters and their parents by giving them an opportunity to demonstrate their ability to ride safely and to gain confidence at the handlebars of the often sophisticated equipment they are using. The bicycle safety program in the State of Illinois stresses awareness of individual responsibility when operating a bike any time of the day or night.

Sue Koppa, director of parks and recreation for the village of Antioch, is hopeful that parents will urge their children to take advantage of the rodeo to help reduce the statistical fact that over 400,000 persons, too many of them children, suffered bicycle-related injuries serious enough to require hospital emergency room treatment last year.

ABC's of Travel

DOMESTIC & INTERNATIONAL

By BARB CORBIN

USE TRAVELER'S CHECKS, BUT FOLLOW THESE TIPS AND PRECAUTIONS. Most clients today use traveler's checks for extended trips, aware that they offer a safe, dependable way to carry money.

The biggest benefit, obviously, is that if they're lost or stolen, you may obtain a full refund. Following are tips to keep in mind that may help you to get the most money and convenience for your traveler's check dollars:

1. If you plan to visit just one country, or only several, it may be worthwhile to buy traveler's checks in the local currency if possible. They may cost slightly more to purchase, but you won't have to worry about currency fluctuations or shopping around for the best exchange rate.

2. Don't buy all your checks in smaller denominations, such as $10, because you'll find yourself constantly having to cash another. Stick to $50 and $100 checks, especially if you are not on a package tour and plan to pay your own hotel bills in cash. This is particularly true when visiting rural areas. Away from larger cities, traveler's checks are more difficult to cash and bring a lower exchange rate.

3. The very highest exchange rate often is available from the local office of the company that issued your checks. High exchange rates are offered by banks, the lowest by hotels and restaurants.

4. As a safeguard against loss, carry receipts and a list of your traveler's check serial numbers separate from the checks themselves, and as an added precaution, leave a list of the numbers at home of whom you could contact. When traveling with someone else, EACH PERSON should carry some money.

That way, if there's an emergency, neither traveler will be stranded without funds. All too often either the Mr. or the Mrs. carries all the money which is a NO-NO. Follow this travel tip and your vacation will be a success not a disaster.

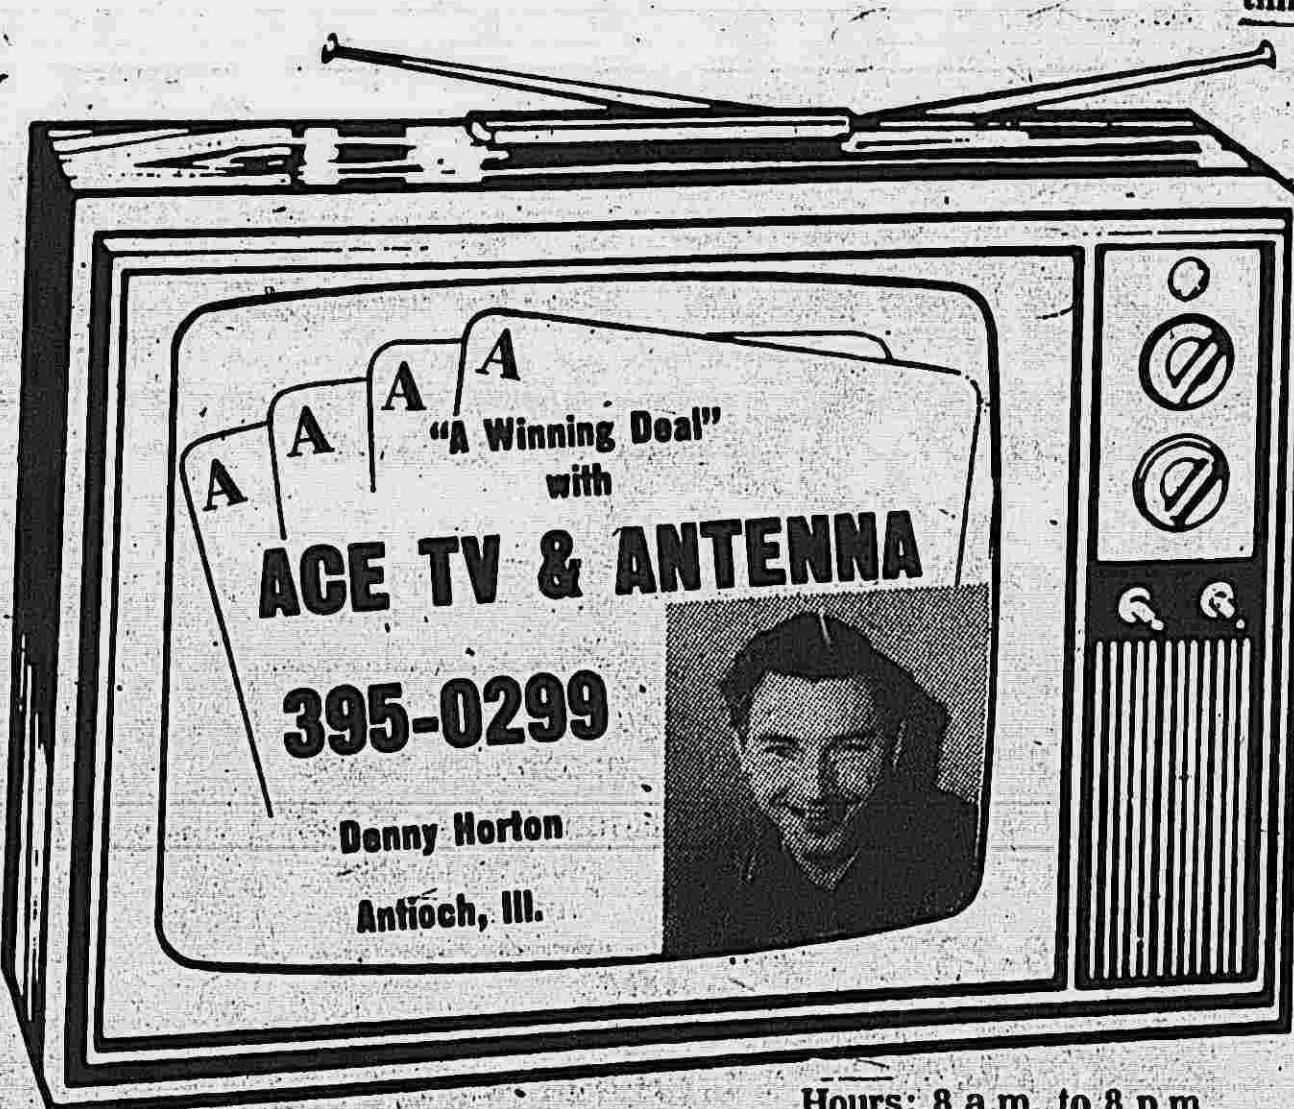

Tacit Tactics

How eloquent the smirk
That Mrs. Jones throws Mr. 's way!
How sharper than a dirk

And then how he will hunt

Harland runs 1:55.6 in state meet

Bill Harland, Antioch High School senior distance runner, ran a half-mile in 1:55.6 in the Illinois state track championships at Charleston last week.

Harland's performance, while anchoring Antioch's two-mile relay team, was one of the best by a Lake County athlete this season and one of the best track feats in the history of Antioch High School.

THE ANTIOCH RELAY team placed 19th in the state, outclassed by bigger schools. But Chuck Paulson ran his half-mile in 2:00.4 and Mark Biel and Dan Otten added to their previous fine efforts.

The Antioch foursome's time of 8:04.7 for the two miles was nearly two seconds faster than the time with which the team qualified for the state.

Antioch's other state qualifiers, Mike Harr in the discus and Steve Pilcher in the broad jump, also failed to place in the state but still ranked among the best in Lake County.

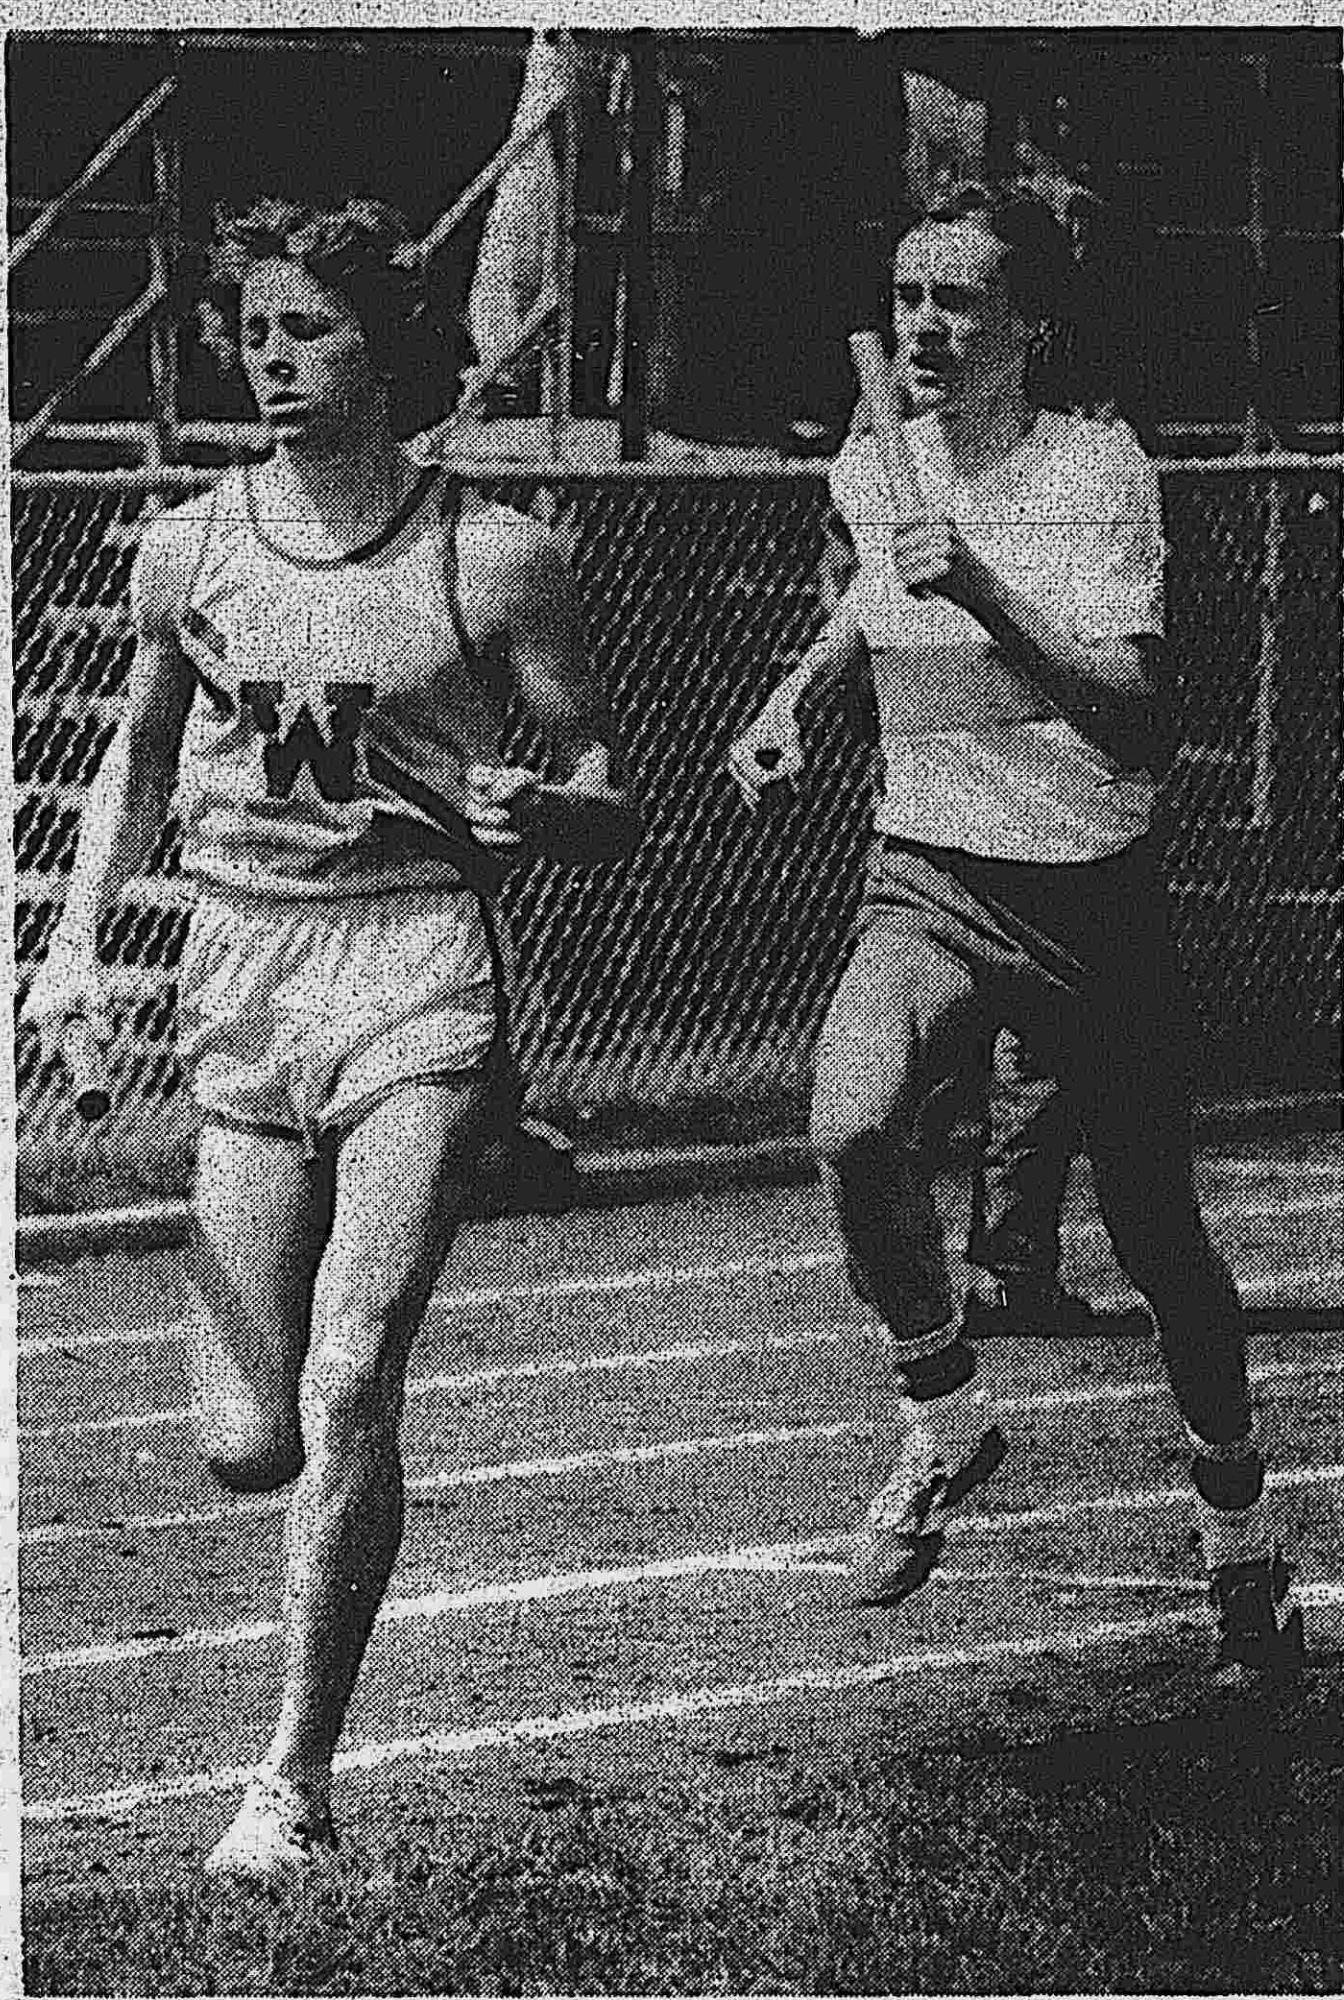

HARLAND PLANS TO enroll at the University of Colorado where he will compete in both indoor and outdoor track meets.

His older brother, Bill, who will be a junior at Southwest Minnesota State next fall, recently placed sixth in his conference meet in the 3,000 meter steeplechase. The five athletes who beat him rank high in small college distance running.

Mike also ran the three mile race in 14:52 for Southwest Minnesota State.

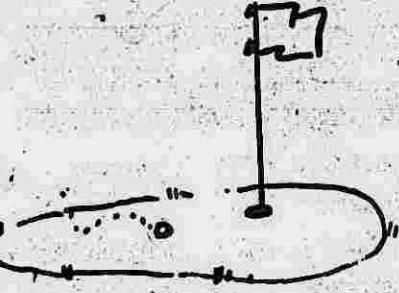

MARK BIEL (left) hands the baton to Bill Harland as Antioch's half-mile relay team competes in the state championships at Charleston. They were two of the six Antioch athletes who qualified for the state meet.

Tom Jones' car 'sings' at Waukegan Speedway

In Sunday's late model super stock Memorial Day "Monza Classic," it was point-leader Tom Jones coming home the overall winner in the 27-car field.

Jones won the first 30, finished second in the second 30 and fourth in the third 30 for the win.

Ray Young, the winner of the 50-lapper held the night before, was at the track but had a cracked cylinder wall during practice and was unable to compete.

RAY YOUNG, THE DEFENDING late model track champion, made his first appearance of the season a successful one last Saturday night at Waukegan Speedway.

Young won the 50-lap Kopper-Piccone May championship race.

The Little League Page

FACES IN THE CROWD — Two Little League fans were having fun at the local ballpark last week and the one to whom the arrow points was singled out by our telephoto lens. He wins a $15 savings account at the Antioch Savings and Loan Association. But, first, he has to come to our offices (950 Main St.) Thursday or later and tell us his name and address.

THE WOMAN DESIGNATED by the arrow was watching intently at an Antioch Little League game, unaware that our photographer was selecting her to receive a $15 guest certificate from Maggie & Harry's Thompson's Bar & Restaurant, 933 Main St. First, though, we must learn her identity. We hope she'll drop in at the Antioch News Thursday or later.
